Math

Happy Holidays!

Reading Workshop

In Reading, Kindergartener's will be learning super powers to incorporate into their reading as they learn how to decode and sound out words. Please remember to review sight words with your child to build confidence in reading words they already know! 😊

Writing Workshop

In Writing, Kindergartener's will continue writing about things they love and real life experiences. Through storytelling, they are able to revisit events that occurred in their lives and are able to narrate them in their stories. Students are writing independently by stretching out the words and listening for the letter sounds they hear. They are also working with their partners to give and receive feedback on how to make their stories even stronger!

Have a Happy and Healthy
New Year!

In Math we are working on Topics 5 and 6. Students will be learning and becoming familiar with sorting and classifying objects in unit 5. By being able to record data, they are building skills to help them begin adding in our next Unit (6) which introduces addition, combining groups and learning about the equals sign!

Please review the numbers 0-10 to help prepare your child for addition!

Social Studies

Children are learning all about their country in our Social Studies unit this month. We will look closely at the symbols of the United States such as our flag, anthem, and monuments such as the White House, and Statue of Liberty. As we celebrate so many holidays in December, we will also look closely at the cultures and traditions celebrated in our neighborhood!
